

The Hotel Lucia's Way of Wearing a Shirt That Says 'Number 1 Dad'

 Where: 400 SW Broadway [\[map\]](#), Portland, OR, United States, 97205
June 16, 2011 at 4:33 PM | by JetSetCD | Comments \(0\)

How often do you see a hotel flagrantly bragging about their employees? Almost never, because the job of a hotel is to focus on the guests and brag about them, right? Wrong, if you're Portland, Oregon's Hotel Lucia, because they have it written right on their exterior:

Through these doors walk the most outstanding Employees anyone could ask for Hotel Lucia

We were just walking by this side, employee-entrance door when the bright green words attracted our attention. You don't even need to be a guest at the Lucia to smile about their employees, because this cute little gesture from the management says it all. We wonder if the workers even look at it anymore, or if employees of other hotels walk past and get a little sour. Regardless, this is something we've never seen before at a hotel, and good on them for showing a little public appreciation for their staff.