Boutique Properties at their Best

Hotel Murano,

Tacoma, Washington
This new hotel (named after the island off of Venice which is famous for it being the origin of glass art) in Tacoma, Wash., (30 minutes from Seattle) features more than 45 glass artists from all over the world. Our curator traveled the globe and chose emerging and established artists to be in our hotel which has a very modern and international design. Each guest room floor features one specific artist. When you get off of the elevators, there is a glass art wall where an artist image and a mission statement are etched into the glass and next to it is a final masterpiece by the artist. Down the corridors, there are photos of the artist making their craft and in the guest rooms, there are sketches that the artist completed before the actual glass piece was made.

Hotel deLuxe,

Portland, Ore., This hotel embodies the Golden Age of Hollywood film during the 1930s to the 1950s with a floor-to-ceiling video wall of a single photograph from a movie (the photo changes every hour) framed by an antique mirror and more than 350 black-and-white photographs throughout the hotel of directors backstage and of stills from their films. Each floor is categorized by directors, for example, the second floor is The Maestro floor and every photo in that corridor and in the guest rooms is of Hitchcock films or of Hitchcock working backstage. The hotel is designed in an Art Deco/Art Moderne style with crystal chandeliers and gold-gilded ceilings.

Hotel Lucia,

Portland, Ore., This hotel features black and white photographs by Pulitzer-prize winning photographer David Hume Kennerly of world leaders (Anwar Sadat, President Ford, Bill and Hilary Clinton and more) and celebrities (Jodie Foster, Hugh Hefner, Ansel Adams and more) throughout the hotel. And the public spaces is filled with original art by regional and national artists. The hotel is contemporary in style yet warm and luxurious.

Hotel Max, Seattle, Washington

This hotel features 30 Seattle artists and nine Seattle photographers with original art in every guest room and each corridor is dedicated to a single photographer with full-length spot-lit photographs covering each guestroom door. The lobby is filled with original art from regional and national artists in a very modern design atmosphere.
